HAIR REMOVAL SPECIALIST

● "I've been a beauty therapist for nearly two years, and have worked at Claire Françoise Salon in Melbourne for about 18 months. I specialise in hair removal. It can be quite a delicate situation, but it really depends on the client. I've been doing it for long enough now that I've become immune to any embarrassment. But if a client hasn't been before and they are having a Brazilian done, they can be a little nervous. Luckily, it's over real quick! It's never as painful as people think, either. This job is a lot about customer service; it's about good communication. I love what I do because it is a lively atmosphere, it's not like working in an office, and it's very relaxed, even though I can see up to 60 people a day. It can be a bit hectic and we do work some late nights. But I really can't complain."
